"I love the life and energy that spring brings with it. All of that fresh oxygen is basically an invitation to get out, take on a new challenge or project and leave winter behind."

Bedroom 2

Josh Pickering developed a passion for design early on in life. After graduating with a degree in architecture, he made the immediate shift into the world of interior design. Following time spent in Texas design firms and then several years working for legendary designer Bunny Williams in New York, Josh established his firm, Pickering House, in 2016. Since then, he has completed a wide array of projects—large and small, classic and modern—all of which evoke a sense of calm sophistication that layer the client's personality with uniquely sourced items and bespoke details.

HOW YOU KNOW HIS WORK...

Two nooks flanking the fireplace are a study in symmetry in a sitting room by Josh Pickering. Gold accents dress the room with a layer of glamour.
